

Still more to learn!

This week I have been so proud of our year 6 pupils. Their behaviour during their national statutory testing week has been exemplary and they have really supported each other through the week, showing their resilience and determination to succeed and their ability to respect and support each other, ensuring that everyone is successful. Our Chair of Governors came to visit on Tuesday to see how the Key Stage Two Statutory tests were going and she was equally impressed with the attitude and motivated behaviour of the children. So, a huge well done to all year 6 and a big thank you to all the staff and parents who have equally supported the children incredibly well to enable them to be so confident and comfortable during this time. This shows that we have definitely supported our children well in developing both academically and emotionally.

The test papers have now all been packed up and sent off to be externally marked but our Year 6 pupils have 8 more weeks here at Holbrook Primary School and still have lots more to learn as they prepare ready for secondary school. In these last few weeks they will attend their new secondary school and staff from their secondary schools will come to Holbrook to meet them too. It is a very exciting time as they prepare for the next part in their education and very important that their behaviour and positive attitude to learning continues.

The tests maybe over for year 6 but the next week, in a slightly less formal situation Year 2 will be doing their SATs test to help inform their teacher assessments. The next half term is when all other year groups will sit their end of year tests. These will be used to support teachers in making their assessments to pass up to the next year groups, ensuring that teachers' planning meets the needs of your child, aiding their transition as they move through school. So! Please make sure you arrive on time every day so you don't miss out.

Well done to the 12 classes that hit the 96% attendance target last week.

It is still early but I think next week we might see some GREEN 100% on the chart next week, as all Year 6 were in for SATs.

Lego is lots of fun, even for big kids like Mr Connolly! You can buy and make kits following the picture instructions but sometimes just using the pieces to make your own model is even more creative.

As with all the challenges please e-mail your a picture of your lego creation to challenge@holbrookprimary.com to tell me what you have made. If you get your picture in the newsletter you get a BEST point!

Outside PE.

After last week saying to keep a check on text messages in case of bad weather cancelling clubs, the weather has been lovely this week!

The lovely weather has meant that PE lessons have been outside, allowing us to use our amazing outside spaces.

But in the hot weather a sun hat and an application of an all day sun cream makes it
